

Joining Our Pack

This information sheet is designed to help answer questions about our intake process. We truly are in the business of being the best daycare for your best friend and to that end, we take all steps necessary to ensure we can provide the very best for all dogs attending daycare. Here's how we work to accomplish this mission.

What We Do

In order to maintain the happiness and well-being of our guests, all dogs must undergo a temperament evaluation. Due to the safety of all dogs we are not able to accept aggressive dogs or dogs with an inability to interact socially with other canines. This evaluation allows us to learn the temperament and social skills of your best friend and ensure that they will enjoy participating in the daily activities of daycare.

When Is This Done

The temperament evaluation is conducted on the first day of daycare. We require that you drop your dog off early, preferably at 7:00 a.m. or before, unless other arrangements have been made. This gives your dog time to check the place out and get a little adjusted on their own before a lot of other dogs arrive.

Who is Involved

We will become personally acquainted with your best friend and then slowly introduce dogs who are already known for their friendly nature and well-rounded socialization skills. Slowly we will introduce other dogs currently in our pack who are great daycare ambassadors.

What We Are Looking For

We will carefully monitor your dog's body language, posturing and reactions during these social interactions. We are looking for any potential problems that your dog may have adjusting. If the interactions are going well, we will introduce your buddy to the rest of our buddies who are already attending daycare and we will observe and monitor your dog closely throughout the day.

What Happens After

Once your dog has successfully completed this process, we are happy to have them join our pack.

In the event that we feel a dog may need more training to interact safely with the pack, we will contact you and let you know what we observed.

Why We Do It

Our evaluation process is very straight forward and is designed to address the individual needs of your dog and determine their current level of socialization while ensuring that everyone in our care has a fun, safe environment to happily enjoy their day.
